

The Watsons Meet Watson

A portrait of Kush R. Varshney, a man with dark hair, wearing a white checkered shirt and a blue patterned tie. He is looking directly at the camera with a neutral expression.

A Call for “Carative AI”

September 22, 2022
1:30 PM

Campus Center
Boardroom

Kush R. Varshney (BS Cornell, PhD MIT) is the author of Trustworthy Machine Learning (2022). Dr. Varshney is a distinguished research scientist with IBM Research at the Thomas J. Watson Research Center, Yorktown Heights, NY, where he leads the machine learning group in the Foundations of Trustworthy AI department. He was a visiting scientist at IBM Research-Africa in Nairobi, Kenya in 2019. As founding co-director of the IBM Science for Social Good initiative, he applies data science and predictive analytics to human capital management, healthcare, olfaction, computational creativity, public affairs, international development, and algorithmic fairness.

This talk, appropriate for a multi-disciplinary audience, is supported by a grant from the SUNY-IBM Research Alliance.

Refreshments provided.